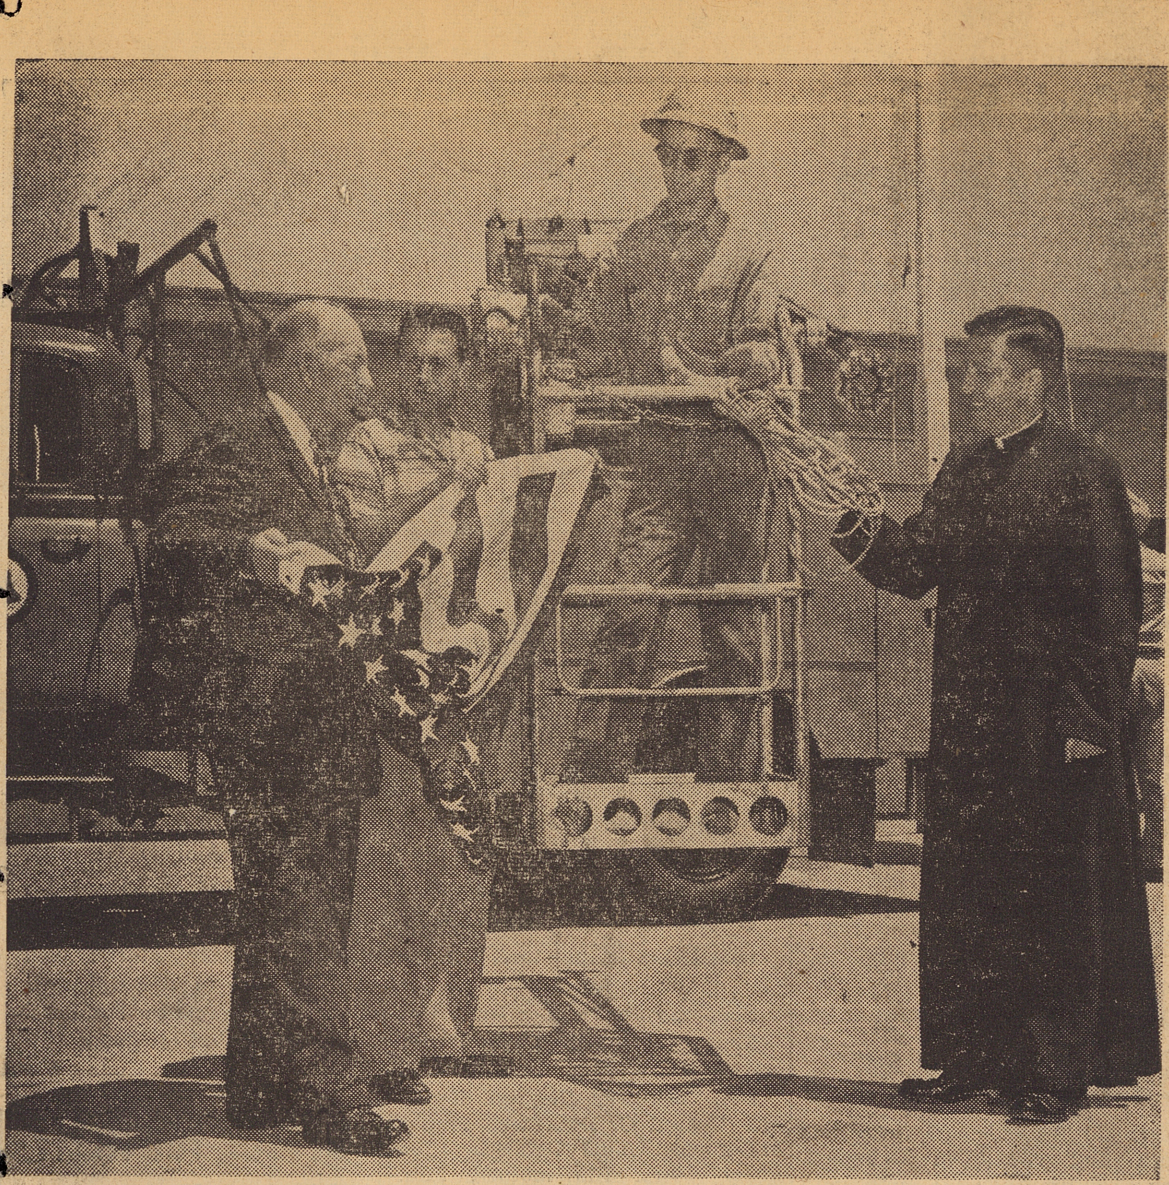
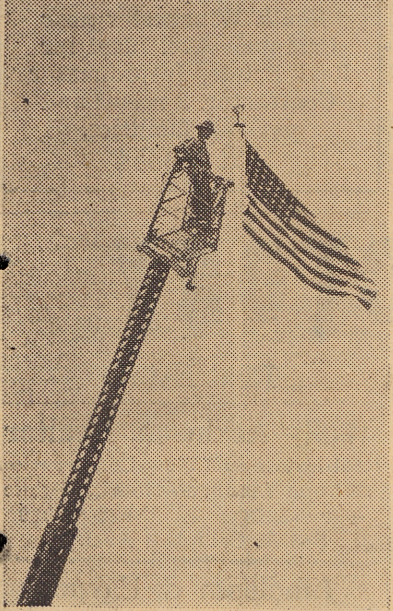
A GROWING NEWSPAPER — A GROWING COMMUNITY

Vol. 64, No. 32 | CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA | 10c | Thurs., August 9, 1956





LONG MAY IT WAVE . . . All last year, Sa. Lucy's Catholic School in Campbell was unable to fly its American flag from its 45-foot pole on the school grounds. During the summer of 1955 the hook that holds the flag stuck at the top in such a manner that the only way it could be repaired was to get to the top of the pole. And no way was found to do this little job until the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. offered to come to the rescue with its special equipment. Last Saturday the PT&T truck pulled into the school grounds. With appropriate ceremonies recorded for posterity by the cameramon the mission was accomplished so that St. Lucy's once more flies her flag. In the top picture, Louis Aurrecoechea of the phone company prepares for his ascent into space while receiving last minute instructions from (left to right) Judge Martin Walsh, representing the Knights of Columbus; Joe Anello, of St. Lucy's Dad's Club and Father Thomas Ahern, assistant pastor at St. Lucy's. Pictured on left is Aurrecoecha again as he gazes at Old Glory once more flapping in the breeze after a year's leave of absence.

C. of C. Stages Final Drive Monday

A final all-out drive for members of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce will take place all day Monday, August 13, with every available member of the Board of Directors participating in the "big push".

Milt Nelson, president of the C. of C., announced that the directors on Tuesday night voted for this final "do or die" effort in order to keep the revived Chamber on the same active basis as it has been in recent months under Sam Cava, secretary-manager.

"Unless we get our full quota of members," Nelson said, "the Chamber of Commerce will be forced to curtail its program right at the time when its importance to the community is becoming increasingly important. We only have 60 paid-up members and there is a potential of 300. We sincerely hope that those who have not paid their dues will come forward on Monday."

Nelson also reported that the directors based on the poll taken of the merchants which overwhelmingly favored the third week in May for the Old Settlers' Day celebration voted to hold next year's celebration on May 17-18-19. Of the 42 merchants replying, 30 of them favored the third week in May.

The parade will be held on Sunday afternoon, it was also decided. The vote of the merchants favored Sunday by a 34 to 8 vote.

By almost the same percentage, Nelson said, the merchants agreed to support Campbell Dollar Days, August 16-17-18 and agreed to stay open until 9 p.m. on Friday, August 17.

$$ Days Coming

Campbell Dollar Days are coming!

For three days next week the merchants of Campbell are planning one of the most outstanding bargain events in the history of the town with almost every store in town participating.

"Dollar Days in Campbell" will take place Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, August 16-17-18. Mrs. Emily McConnell, of Rachel's Dress Shop, chairman of the Merchants Committee, claims that the bargains offered in the local stores will compare with those in any other city in the area.

The event is sponsored by the Merchants Committee of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce. Residents of the city are urged to take advantage of the many "specials" that will be offered.

Planners Hear From Both Sides of Street

It was "east side, west side, all around the town" last Thursday night at the meeting of the City Planning Commission when the first public hearings were held on adopting the official plan lines for both Campbell Ave. and Winchester Road.

The problem that presented itself for the first time Thursday was whether in the Winchester Road case the extra width needed should come from the east side, west side or off both sides. The issue will probably grow in intensity from now on out.

Another technical point raised was whether the 25-foot setback required by the city for new residences would apply in the cases where the city widens the streets almost up to the doorways. If it did apply, would the city then be forced to move the homes back? On the motion of Commissioner Hollis Logue, the question was referred to City Attorney Joseph Bonacina for a ruling and the matter was continued under advisement until the next meeting, August 16.

Residents Heard

But before Logue made his motion, the Commission had heard enough from a number of residents from both sides of the street to indicate that before the matter will be finally settled, the song "The Sidewalks of New York" will have become common to Campbell.

Plans for the streets, as presented by Elmer D'Angelo, assistant city engineer, call for Winchester Road to be widened to 90 feet, with 45 feet to be taken on either side from the center line and Campbell Ave. to 80 feet, 40 feet on each side. Both streets at the present time vary in widths. Campbell Ave is 55-feet and 60-feet while Winchester varies from 50 to 60 feet.

D'Angelo reported that the city would have to buy about a 15-foot strip on each side for Winchester improvement and about 10-feet for Campbell. It was also explained that under the plan recommended by the city engineer's office, no house moving would be necessary, although in some cases only four-feet would remain between the house and street.

It was this lack of space that provoked Mr. and Mrs. Burt W. Simmons, 314 N. Winchester Road, east side residents, to urge the Commission to allow a "jog" in the road so that all the land needed for widening to be taken off the west side. Simmons also pointed out that between Hamilton and Latimer the lots are not deep and taking land from one side would be better.

"We could just open our front door," she declared, "and the traffic would go right through our living room".

Nestor Barrett, planning consultant, told the Commission that he felt that the plan as presented to them by the engineers was as fair as could be possible under the circumstances. He said that in many instances builders have voluntarily cooperated in allowing for the eventual setback.

Two other residents present were West-side proponents. Karl Bohnett, a Winchester Road property owner (including the controversial Roosevelt Redwood), advocated taking the strip from only the west side as did Lowell Grattan, speaking for his mother Mrs. Roy Archibald, another Winchester Road landowner.

George Hartwell, 171 N. Winchester, however, told the Commission that he thought the strip should be taken only from one side. But from the east side.

J. M. Dahl, another property owner affected, told the Commission that he was more or less in agreement with the engineer's proposal. He felt that the only fair way was to evenly divide the land between the two sides.

Most of the discussion concerning the right or wrong side of the street was in relation to Winchester Road. Barrett told the Planners that he felt that the widening of Campbell Ave. would not be as tough a problem because (1) only 10 feet would be needed in most cases and (2), many of the buildings, especially the new construction, were already set back.

Homer Hyde, chairman of the Commission, said that he felt that the reaction of those present indicated that everyone on the street would be interested in the official plan and that they all would have a definite idea from where the widening strip should come, depending on what side of the street they lived.

Raccoon Roams Residential Region; Cops Collar Cunning Culprit

Campbell police are beginning to wonder whether they may have missed something in their training. In light of recent experiences, they feel that perhaps they should have spent some time in a zoo learning how to apprehend animals.

A week ago the local gendarmes were called upon to assist in the capture of "Skinny" a monkey who was cavorting through the wilds of Campbell. Early Tuesday morning this week Officer Carl Arnold participated in the capture of a raccoon who had paid an unscheduled nocturnal visit to the home of the Elmer Hammers at 581 E. Campbell.

The raccoon entered the Hammer home through the open garage door, and unconcernedly climbed onto the bed of Hammer.

At first Hammer thought his visitor was a cat but closer examination of his uninvited bed companion revealed its true identity. The raccoon appeared perfectly content to bed down with him for the rest of the night.

But Hammer, unused to having a strange raccoon as a bed-fellow didn't go for the idea.

The raccoon appeared friendly enough . . . up to a point. But no amount of persuasion on the part of members of the famly household could lure the wily animal into any trap. Mrs. Hammer recalls that he liked corn but would pick up such bait in his paws without getting into the box.

Officer Arnold was called because no one in the Hammer family in the face of the current rabies scare wanted to take the risk of being bitten. Besides several dogs in the neighborhood had set up a mighty ruckus. Arnold was also unsuccessful in luring the animal by peaceful means into the box. He finally was forced to knock out the 35 pound raccoon to get the pesky animal into the box. Carted to the police station the "prisoner" was later transferred into the custody of the County Health Department.

Anybody lose a raccoon?

City Planner to Study Problem of Roosevelt Tree

What will be the fate of the 53-year old Roosevelt Redwood in Campbell still remained a moot and unanswerable question this week. But the tree's future destiny had at least been given a semi-official recognition by a city agency.

The City Planning Commission last Thursday referred the whole matter of the tree to Nestor Barrett, planning consultant, and Mark Thomas, city engineer. They will report to the Commission Thursday, August 16, as to wether it is practical to save the tree. And how much it will cost.

The Planning Commission will probably then make a recommendation to the City Council.

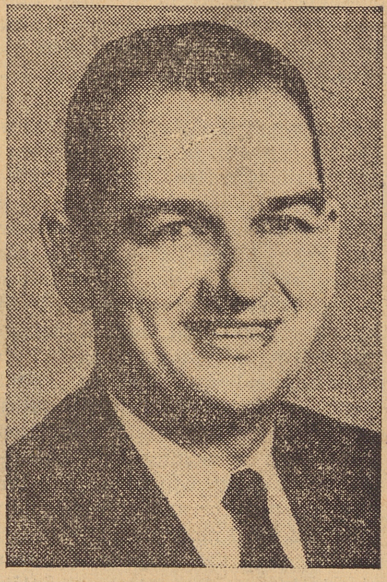
The matter of the tree, planted by Preident Theodore Rooevelt in 1903, came before the Commission through a letter from Mrs. Alice Joy Keith, who for the past few months has staged a one-woman fight to save the towering redwood at the southeast corner of Campbell Ave. and Winchester Road. The tree now stands in the parking lot of a filling station on that corner but when President Teddy planted it, it was on the high school grounds.

The eventual widening of Winchester will eliminate the tree unless some means can be devised to save it in the face of progress. Mrs. Keith, in her letter to the Commission, suggested that a traffic island be constructed on which the tree could stand. She claimed that City Engineer Thomas thought that such a plan could be devised.

Mrs. Keith, a mathematician employed by the Navy in San Diego, owns an orchard on West Rincon and has always considered Campbell her home. She is a graduate of the class of 1903 of Campbell High and was present that day in 1903 when Teddy wielded the shovel in town.

Chairman Homer Hyde of the Commission explained at the meeting that the destiny of the tree was not the concern of the Planners. It was an engineering problem, he said, and the Planners were only concerned with the official plan line of the street. The City Council must eventually decide what and how the street was to be widened.

Barrett, in taking the matter under study made a pitch for historic monuments such as the Roosevelt Redwood.



GEORGE P. CHAFFEY
. . . Rotary Governor

Rotary Governor To Visit Local Club on Monday

Campbell Rotary Club will be host to George P. Chaffey, governor of the 155th District of Rotary International, at the regular meeting of the local club next Monday, August 13, at the Campbell Country Woman's Clubhouse.

Governor Chaffey, deputy city superintendent of schools of Vallejo, will make his annual official visit to the local club, one of the 51 clubs in his district extending from Hollister to Crescent City.

He will address the club and confer with Merv Willoughby, president, and Forrest Reese, secretary. The district governor is a past president of the Vallejo club and has attended the last three Rotary International conventions. He was elected district governor at the 47th annual convention in Philadelphia last June. He is one of the 248 district governors supervising the activities of the more than 9100 Rotary clubs which have a membership of 413,000 business and professional executives in 99 countries throughout the free world.

According to Willoughby, the world-wide organization continues to grow in numbers and strength. During the past fiscal year, he said, 351 new Rotary clubs were organized in 48 countries of North, South, and Central America, Europe, Asia, Africa and the Islands of the Pacific, and seven countries were added to Rotary's roster—Angola, Iran, Iraq, Jordan, Netherlands New Guinea, Ruanda-Urundi and Swaziland.

Shame, She Says

"It would be a shame to cut it down".

That's the way Mrs. Harriett C. Hummell, 79 N. First St., this week prefaced her protest to the removal of the Roosevelt Redwood when Winchester Road is widened.

Mrs. Hummell asked to go on record with Mrs. Alice Joy Keith and Mrs. Henry S. Young in trying to save the town's living memorial now standing in the parking lot of the filling station at Winchester and Campbell. When Teddy planted it however, it was in the yard of the high school.

Mrs. Hummell, now 88 years young, was present that memorable day in May, 1903 when President Theodore Roosevelt personally planted the tree. She was born in San Jose and taught at Campbell High School for 16 years. She describes Teddy's visit some 53 years ago to Campbell as a "great event" in the town's history.

Miss Campbell to Be Named Tonight

When Campbell Jaycees meet at the Villa Felice in Los Gatos tonight, Campbell's queen will be selected to compete with other community queens for the Miss Santa Clara County Fair title at the contest to be held at the fairgrounds August 19.

Besides Miss Leah Eileen Walker, Campbell's first entrant in the contest, three more contestants for Campbell queen have entered the competion. They are: Miss Dolly Geis, Miss Freda Williams, and Miss Diane Patterson.

Campbell Receives Big Boost From Los Gatos

A new chapter with an unusual twist in inter-city relationships was added here this week.

And Campbell will probably gain a brand new industry because of it.

"Maintaining friendly relations with the City of Campbell is more important to us than losing the Cascade Research Company."

That's the way Mayor A. E. Merrill of Los Gatos explained to The Press why his city on Monday had taken action to withdraw approximately 20 acres from their Los Gatos Creek Annexation No. 2. The map of the 55-acre annex had been approved by the County Boundaries Commission last week.

The 20 acres included the property recently purchased by the Cascade Research Company and is located on E. Parr Ave. The decision to withdraw the area came after a conference Friday was held between Mayor John M. Chargin of Campbell, Dwight Caswell, president of Cascade, Mayor Merrill and Karl Baldwin, town manager for Los Gatos.

Cascade Research has grown up in Los Gatos and is now operating from three locations in that town. It plans to build a 30,000 square foot headquarters on the 20 acres it owns on Parr Ave. The firm now employs 70 people and plans to expand its personnel to 100 when it begins operating from its new location. Caswell said that the company hopes to start building this fall or by spring.

The president said that he was perfectly agreeable to become a part of either city but it was the understanding of the Campbell contingent during prior boundary discussions that the firm would join Campbell as it joins the area that is in the process now of being annexed to Campbell. It is anticipated that this property will now be zoned for light industrial use.

Mayor Chargin and other city officials were pleased with the attitude of Los Gatos town officials in this matter.

"It certainly is a pleasure," Mayor Chargin said, "to be able to work together with a neighboring city. We want this excellent relationship to continue and we know it will."

County Approves Sales Tax

Santa Clara County's Board of Supervisors and the cities within the county this week agreed on a formula for sharing the uniform one-cent sales tax levy which goes into effect October 1.

The hassle of more than a year between the county and cities finally thus came to an end on Monday.

The plan calls for the county to receive a net of 7.3 per cent of the tax collected inside city limits with another 1.7 per cent going for collection. Under the uniform county tax, the State Board of Equalization will do the collecting, relieveing the cities of the burden. (The cities had planned to go ahead with their own tax anyway, if no agreement had been reached)

Mayor John M. Chargin and Councilman Richard Morton represented Campbell at the meeting Monday at which representatives of the 14 cities of the county met with the Board.

Mayor Chargin said the compromise agreement will be officially presented to the Campbell City Council on Monday night and that it will be incorporated in the city ordinance that is now in the process of being drawn up by City Attorney Joseph Bonacina.

Chargin also said that a new estimate of the returns from the sales tax for Campbell indicates that the city will receive more money than had been anticipated.

The long-drawn out tussle between the cities and counties started originally when the county demanded a 25 per cent cut from the sales tax and the cities countered with 10 per cent for flood control and five per cent otherwise. The county later dropped to 15 per cent and going into Monday's discussion was offering 12½ per cent while the cities were holding out for 5 per cent.

For a time Monday, Chargin reported, it looked like another stalemate would take place but the compromise was finally agreed upon to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Quiet Reigns on Local P. O. Front After Eruption

Quiet reigned on the local postmaster scene this week after the violent eruption last week stemming from accusations made by Rex Kaber, 680 Emory Ave. against Postmaster Ira Grim.

Grim was accused by Kaber of delaying a shipment of mail and also of burning a quantity of third class circular mail at Christmas time that was supposedly undeliverable.

Last week the U. S. Post Office Department, in a letter to Congressman Charles Gubser, acknowledged that charges had been made against Grim and that they had been investigated. The department pointed out in the letter that Grim would be retired in March of 1957 and that, if action was taken to remove him now, he could appeal and months would elaps (past the retirement date) before the matter could be settled

By that reasoning the department had decided to reprimand the local postmaster and continue him in office until next March.

That was the way the matter stood this week with no further official developments to change the complexion of the case. Both camps ("the fir and agin") apparently stood ready, however, to take up the battle again at a moment's notice.

The feud between Grim and Kaber extends over almost a 10-year period. Two years ago Grim's office was investigated because of poor employee relationship. The postmaster was cleared completely of the charges.

Rumors arose during the current controversy that a number of employees were also dissatisfied with the operation of the local office but, as far as could be determined, nothing official had been filed on this score.

In two previous issues of The Press, in the "letters to the editor" column both sides of the issue have been aired. In today's in the letter column Postmaster Grim extends his thanks to those who have stood by him.

Fence Setback Worries Planners

In addition to discussing the plan lines for Winchester Road and Campbell Ave., the Planning Commission Thursday night in other actions:

1. Referred to the city attorney, a possible zone violation case involving a fence on the property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winn, at Virginia Ave. and Bucknall (Rincon); The matter was presented to the Commission by W. L. (Bud) Morser, city building inspector, who said his investigation showed the fence was not set back far enough on the lot and as a result made the corner a "blind intersection".

2. Granted Richard Ziegler a use permit to a used car sales business on the southeast corner of Rincon and Winchester but specified that all provisions of the city ordinances be met and that proper set back be allowed at the corner.

3. Recommended for adoption by the City Council of a city ordinance regulating billboard advertising along the Route 5 freeway through Campbell. The State has agreed to landscape the freeway where such ordinances are in effect.

4. Granted a zone variance to Herbert Siemoneit, 156 N. Central Ave., to allow for the construction of a three-unit dwelling on the 7000 square foot lot instead of the required 8000 square feet.

5. Approved the subdivision map of J. M Dahl for a 16-lot subdivision.

6. Approved the application of William King for a change of zone from R-1 to C-1-S in Shady Acres Unit No. 3 at Harrison and Hamilton.

7. Set September 6 as the date for the public hearing to establish a commercial zone on property at Union at Campbell recently annexed to the city.

Firemen to Burn House on Sunday

Campbell firemen will get practical training in fighting a house blaze this Sunday at 9 a.m.

An old berry-pickers' shack, located on West Campbell Ave., now ready for demolishing, has been donated to the Campbell Fire Department for the drill by Councilman Charles Rose.

According to Fire Chief Jack Scott, the drill will consist of the study of different nozzles at different pressures, and other methods of fighting house fires. Three different phases in the drill will be carried out before the buliding is finally destroyed.

Bruce Wiggins, County Fire Marshal, has been designated as official statistician and time keeper by Chief Scott.

Kiwanians Hear 'Garbage' Talk

W. P. Mertsching, County Health Department representative, talked on the "Funny side of garbage collecting" when he was guest speaker at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting.

Ethan Lanphear, chairman of this week's meeting, was presented with a pin for 13 years perfect attendance.

During the meeting plans were made for the annual stag barbecue to be held at the Ray Bishop ranch next Tuesday. Another matter discussed was the first family barbecue to be held September 11, which the group hopes will be an annual event.

Al Cook Studies CD Setup in Sacto

Al Cook, recently appointed by Mayor John Chargin as his Civil Defense assistant, spent last Friday in Sacramento meeting with Gen. Van Leik, director of Civil Defense in California and Gen. Kiehler, his assistant preparatory to setting up the Campbell Civil Defense activities on a broader basis.

While in Sacramento Al went through the entire State Civil Defense unit, including laboratories for radiological testing, their health and welfare, fire and police department as well as their medical department.

On the basis of the information he brought back, he and Mayor Chargin are planning for a more active Civil Defense organization in this area and will present their plans to the Council and ask for help in the near future.

Mrs. Cook hopes that the Council will take over before the rising tide of posters and propaganda sweeps her out of her living room.

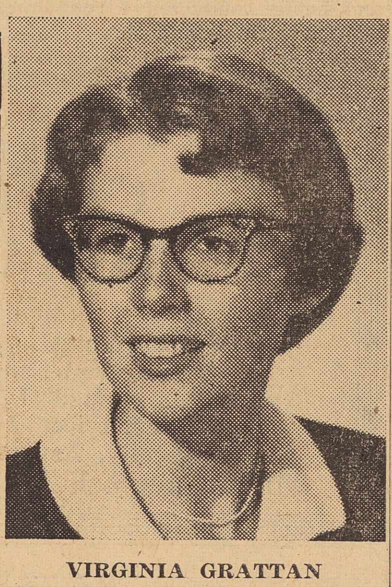
Campbell Girl Reports to Press On Visit to Scenic Switzerland

(Editor's Note: Virginia Grattan, former Campbell High and San Jose State student, has been in Europe since last August. From time to time she has sent The Press interesting reports of her visits to various European countries. In the following article she describes a visit to Switzerland.



VIRGINIA GRATTAN
. . . European Correspondent

VISIT TO SWITZERLAND

By Virginia Grattan

It is about equal distance from Frankfurt to Switzerland as it is from Frankfurt to Holland. The difference in the countryside, however, is very noticeable. From Frankfurt north towards the sea, the land becomes more and more level, until in Holland the land is a long, flat plain without mountains. Traveling south from Frankfurt, one enters the Black Forest region of South Germany, and then the great mountains of Switzerland. Here, the highest mountain ranges of Europe converge, producing breath-taking scenery.

Beautiful Scenery

Switzerland is well known for its magnificent scenery. In an area which is no wider than 211 miles at its greatest width, there are 600 lakes, numerous mountain ranges with peaks upwards of 10,000 feet, and over 1,000 glaciers. It is interesting to note that the water shed from the Swiss mountains flows into most of the major seas—north by the Rhine river through Germany to the North Sea; south by the Po river through Italy to the Adriatic; East by the Danube to the Black Sea; and by the Rhone through France to the Mediterranean. The electricity from this water power supports most of the industries and moves 85 per cent of the rail tonnage in the country.

The main industry in Switzerland is still tourism, though the country is also noted for fine watches, chocolates, and elegant shoes.

In July I drove to Switzerland with a teacher-friend of mine and her young son. We drove through a corner of France to visit the cathedral of Strassburg, from there to Basel where France, Germany and Switzerland meet, and on to Lucerne. We had beautiful weather and when we reached the lake it was glimmering and blue, a beautiful sight.

Lucerne, itself, is a large and busy city. It has a cosmopolitan, sophisticated flavor, and very elegant shops, but we were looking for something typically Swiss, so we continued on around the lake. At Backenried we crossed the lake by ferry, a thrilling experience, and drove along the famous Axenstrasse, a road cut from sheer rock overhanging Lake Lucerne.

We went to Altdorf, at the end of the lake, a little town noted for its connection with William Tell—father of the Swiss Republic. It was here that Tell shot the apple off his son's head. We stayed in Altdorf in a Swiss home that night.

The next day the little town of Altdorf was bustling with activity. The 21st Yodler's Festival of Central Switzerland was to take place that day with a big parade in the afternoon. We did some hiking in the morning, had a picnic on a mountainside at noon, and went down to Altdorf to see the parade in the afternoon. The parade was comprised of yodeling groups from the different villages, flag twirlers, horn players, folk dancers and the like, all in their traditional costumes. It was quite colorful and picturesque.

"Luftzeilbahn"

After the parade we decided to take the "luftzeilbahn" to the top of Mt. Eggberg. We got in this little cable-suspended room with a tiny Swiss man who had a wonderful tan from working in the sun. My German-speaking companions engaged the old man in conversation about the area. He was very enthusiastic, and about half way up the mountainside—when we were hanging out in space over sheer rock and crags—the old man swung open the door and started pointing out the different peaks and landmarks.

I have been up in airplanes, but I never before felt the thrill I got that moment. He stood by the open door and continued talking to my friends. I looked the other way, and held on for dear life. Somehow we got to the top. Mt. Eggberg is not a particularly high peak (4,500), but it affords a breath-taking view of Lake Lucerne, well worth the agonizing ascent.

The next day we drove to Interlaken by way of the Susten pass. The pass had been described to us as a wide, safe, comfortable highway. It was a little more than this. Susten pass is 6,675 feet at the summit, anad there was a late snow fall this year. We soon found ourselves hanging to the edge of a snow-capped mountain, winding upward through tunnels of snow, creeping through the rain and mist. At the top we had an awesome view of the frigid, green pool of a glacier. Coming down, leaving the snow behind, we passed through many pleasant, wildflower-covered valleys and small villages with Swiss chalets.

We passed through Interlaken, again forsaking the big city for some quaint spot, and found a little town on the edge of Lake Thun. The little town of Spiez met all the requirements—its small cove harboring a handful of sail boats, its old castle (1600) situated on the point with vineyards about it, the church beyond, and the town's number-one hotel at the very end of the point. To top it off, there was a little blue and red trolley which ran from the end of the point up through town to the train station on the hill. It was too picturesque to be true.

We spent two days here, hiking, rowing on the lake and enjoying the sun. One morning we caught the ferry to the other side of the lake and went walking there. We found some very exclusive and charming mansions on the lakeshore, which has a magnificent view of the surrounding mountains.

Another afternoon we took the trolley up the hill to the train station and, since it was very clear, we were able to see the snow-clad Jungfrau (12,504 ft.) along with her companions, the Blumlisalp, the Monch, the Schreckhorn and the Wetterhorn. These famout peaks of the alps all range between 10,000 and 12,00 feet of rugged, snow-capped crags.

Back to Frankfurt

On the fifth day we left Spiez, and Switzerland, and headed back to Frankfurt. All too soon it was over. We stopped in Bern, which is a charming city with arcaded sidewalks and clock towers, and a bear pit from which the city takes its name. We bought some mouth-watering Swiss chocolates before continuing on to Basel. We had lunch in Freiburg, Germany, in the Black Forest region, and visited the cathedral there. Then went on our way home.

August 17 marks my first year in Europe. On this day in 1955 I left the ship at Gibraltar and began my stay in Europe. This also, is the date of my first article for the Cambell Press—the voyage over. After this, were articles on trips in Spain, Germany, Italy, Holland, and Switzerland.

More to follow—perhaps Paris and Berlin.

TRADITION IS IMPORTANT

It was a great occasion in May, 1903, when President Theodore Roosevelt, one of the most dynamic presidents this country has sever had, paid a visit to the sleepy hamlet of Campbell, California. On that day he took a spade in his hand and shoveled dirt on the small redwood on the grounds of the Campbell High School.

The visit of the famous Teddy to Campbell marks the only time in the history of the town that a president of the United States has ever appeared here.

That in itself is of historical significance, locally at least.

But he did more than just pass through or speak here. He planted a tree. The passing years have taken their toll, but the tree that Teddy planted still stands. True it now graces the parking lot of a filling station instead of the campus of the high school. But it is still there. At least for the time being.

We know in this day and age that sentiment must take a back seat as progress drives ahead. We feel, however, that there is room in this rushing world of ours for both progress and tradition.

The majestic redwood planted by President Theodore Roosevelt has been a landmark of Campbell for more than 50 years. Granted that not many of those people who attended the tree planting ceremony are still around, but we still have our history books.

If it is at all possible to save the tree, we feel sincerely that every effort should me made to do so.

To those who say that there is no room for sentiment in this day and age, we answer that one of our greatest heritages is our link with the past.

Without remembering the past, it would seem that there is not much need for a future.

ON WINCHESTER ROAD

We know we voice the feeling of everyone who is forced to travel Winchester Road that the improvements planned for the street by the city will be of a permanent nature.

We sincerely hope that the resurfacing job that is contemplated will remove some of the worst features of the road that are present now and are raising havoc with every car that has to travel over it.

We live in hopes.

OUT on the LIMB
George Vierhus

Some time ago a rock was tossed through a window in our back shop. The incident occurred at night so our first knowledge of it was when the joint was opened the next morning. The only damage resulting was the cracked panel which has to be replaced.

One night last week a rock was tossed through a front window. It was apparently thrown with such force that it landed on the floor of our office clear across the room.

We assume that it was youngsters; lacking in any sense of property values, who did the tossing of the rocks.

But even if we knew the guilty parties we would not prosecute, for glass windows have been broken since time immemorial.

Yet we would feel a great deal better about it, if the youngsters (assuming they were woungsters) would have owned up to it. We broke many a window during our growing-up days (although none of them intentional) but we managed somehow to get enough courage together in every case to admit we did the breaking.

We had to pay for some but in most of the cases, we recall, the owner overlooked the damages.

We have long defended the actions of teen-agers in this perplexing world of ours today, claiming that they are neither no worse nor better than when we were that age.

But sometimes their actions today make us wonder if we haven't been giving them too much credit.

Maybe they think it is smart to get by with stuff like breaking windows. Maybe they don't know what is right or wrong. In that case someone is missing the boat. And it may be the parents.

(We forgot to add that we knew when we were a youngster that, if we didn't own up to the breaking of a window, and our parents found out about it, we would have been forced to go to the owner anyway.)

Maybe that was the drastic way of learning right from wrong. But we are happy to say we learned, which is important. We are still confident that most kids today are basically sound. We have had first hand knowledge of some who, despite their so-called "wildness" (a much overworked word and one that has been used every generation), definitely know wrong from right.

But enough of this preaching.

We are just mad because no kid (if it was a kid) has come forth and told us he broke our window while he was trying to see how far he could heave a rock.

—o—

Of course there may be those of one school of thought that will argue that maybe no kids at all were involved.

It could be, they might point out, that some disgruntled adult piqued over something that has appeared in The Press gave vent to his rage by heaving a rock through our window.

That has happened before to newspapers, they might add.

Often times when people take exception to what has appeared in print, they act violently. But we doubt very much if anything that has appeared in print in our colunms recently would have riled any adult to such a boiling point.

Take this controversial local postmaster hassle as a for instance. We don't say that either of the local parties involved, Rex Kaber or Postmaster Ira Grim, should have been riled enough at us to toss rocks through our windows for the reporting job we have been doing.

On the contrary, we felt highly complimented to learn that one side took exception to the first letter to the editor we published. But neither side criticized the news story which probably means it pleased neither.

So we feel pretty safe that neither Ira nor Rex tossed any rocks our way.

Or compliments either, for that matter.

—o—

Exclusive reports to The Press from two of our "foreign correspondents" will be found in this issue. This is a boast which we doubt any other weekly newspaper in the country could make.

Rev. Neale, who is a member of a "Studytour" of Europe of which 28 days will be spent behind the Iron Curtain, has sent us several prior reports while we are indebted to Miss Grattan, who is finishing her first year in Europe, for a whole series of interesting highlights on Europe.

We venture to assert also that no paper, large or small, operates its foreign correspondent staff on as low a budget as we do.

We stand alone in that field.

This is as good a time as any to throw in another plug for The Campbell Press.

The author of this colunm has been officially accredited to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco as a working newspaperman. We have been informed that we will have a seat each day of the convention in the press section. Naturally we are pleased over this. It will be our first convention and we will be happy to be in on this historic event. We know haw scarce seats of any kind will be for this G. O. P. gathering. Wistfully we wish the convention would run at the tail-end of the week instead of at the first. We are afraid we will have to miss a couple of sessions, because this paper must continue to come out come convention or no.

Maybe we should wait until we are secure in our seats before mentioning this but we are pleased to note that none of the GOP press boys bothered to ask our party affiliation before approving the issuance of tickets.

We are pretty certain that being a registered Democrat wouldn't have given us any additional priority.

Letter to the Editor

(Views expressed in this column are those of our readers, and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

THANK YOU NOTE

Dear Editor:

I wish to thank all those friends, acquaintances and even strangers who rallied round with words of support and encouragement during the recent unpleasant publicity, concerning charges of mismanagement of the Campbell Post Office.

I am looking forward to my coming retirement with a deep sense of accomplishment, in a job WELL DONE and THAT, in spite of a very few complaining and critical patrons plus two or three troublesome Post Office employees.

Since my appointment in January, 1935, I have served the best iinterest of the Post Office Department in every way, and shall continue to do so, until my retirement in March, 1957.

Rev. Herbert Neale Reports

Local Minister on European Tour Describes Impressions of Moscow

(Editors Note: The Rev. Herbert Neale, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Campbell, left on June 23 on the "Studytour" of Europe which includes 28 days behind the "Iron Curtain". The followiing is the third report received by The Press from Rev. Neale. In this article he tells of his stay in Moscow.)

July 14

I must drop you a line about my first day in Moscow. Last night we didn't get much sleep. An all night train ride from Leningrad on their crack train, "The Red Arrow". Intourist representatives were on hand to meet us and brought us immediately to Hotel National. Believe it or not, we are right on the Red Square and our window and porch on the fourth floor looks right out on the Kremlin, Lenin and Stalin's Tombs, St. Basil's Caathedral, etc. It is almost unbelieveable. Myron Herrill (of Burlingame) and I are sharing a suite of rooms, hall, parlor, bedroom and bath. The hotels for tourists have been refurbished and are clean and very comfortable. Of course there are the inevitable red plush curtains!

. . . Reports from Moscow

One gripe I have is about the food. Black bread and steak are excellent, but most of the food is fried, and consists mainly of starch and fat. No vegetables to speak of and no fruit at all. Some of the fellows already have colds from poor diet and lack of sleep. We are all feeling the steady grind of being on the go continually.

Two-Hour Interview

Tonight we had a two hour interview with the top CBS news correspondent in Russia, Dan Shore. He was extremely helpful. We visited a stadium where they were having Olympic Tryouts, and one athlete came up to us and said, "The only competition there must be between Russia and the United States is in the field of sport". There seems to be a genuine friedly feeling for Americans.

One great experience was visiting a Russian Baptist Church. It was a regular Wednesday evening meeting, yet the church was crowded, about eight hundred, and mobs standing outside. We could hardly get in, yet found they had reserved seats for us at the front. Three of our number were invited to speak, and they said just the right, heartfelt words, and the interpretors did well with their message. Having our own interpreters is a great help.

A choir of sixty voices sang many wonderful old hymns, with feeling and beauty hard to describe: Many of the hymnals and prayer books were hand copied and bound. We were quite overwhelmed by the sea of eager friendly faces and tear-filled eyes which surrounded us. When the pastor prayed, the people prayed with him, their own prayers expressed audibly. It was an unforgetaable experience. What the mind has affirmed, that we are one in Christ, brothers with one Father, the heart felt as never before.

Today we met the "Sherwood Eddy Group". Yesterday we met Leonard Hildebrandt of the First Congregational Church of San Jose. He is here with the Congregational Social Action tour.

Important Contacts

Dr. Fisk is fine at making important contacts for us in many places. He helps us meet the people and the leaders, instead of spending time in museums, where the Intourist representatives always want to take us.

So far we have seen in Moscow the top hospital, and interviewed the Chief of Staff; visited a collective farm and interviewed the manager; seeing just about everything, including the inside of a house where workers live; a large shoe factory meeting the manager and being conducted throughout; Moscow University, interviewing the Vice Director and the head of some of the departments; visited Orthodox, Baptist, and Jewish churches and synagogues, interviewing the heads themselves; the Moslem News, interviewing the top editor. and to this all the sight seeing and other things which I shall tell you about later, you can see how worthwhile, busy and interesting this trip is.

Frank and Grace Coombs of Eldon Drive, returned last week from Fort Bragg and Crescent City where they visited relatives and friends. At Fort Bragg they visited Mrs. Coombs' brothers and their families Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Weichert and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Weichert. Dave Weichert will be remembered by many Cambrian area residents as the former coowner of the Cambrian Market. The Dave Weicherts have their two grandchildren from Campbell, Mark and Donna Litynsky, spending the summer with them. Mark and Donna are children of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Litynsky of Audrey Ave. When in Crescent City, the Coombs visited their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, former Campbell residents.

Betty Jean Bowling, a June graduate of Campbell Union High School, returned last week from a six weeks trip to Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico where she visited relatives. The trip, Betty Jean's first outside California, was a graduation gift. She plans to attend San Jose Junior College in the fall where she will take up nursing. On her return to Campbell, Betty Jean was happy to find her sister, Mrs. Gerald Collier, and niece, Sandra Lee, were also here, after spending about 18 months in France. Betty Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bowling of East Campbell Ave.

Elbert Womack, minister of the newly organized First Christian Church at 62 North First St., was rushed to the Southern Pacific Hospital in San Francisco with acute appendicitis last Saturday morning. Mr. Womack is reportedly progressing nicely following surgery.

Mrs. Ruth Ninnis of Campbell was a guest at the wedding of Paula Pace to Robert Davis in Carmel recently. Senator Jack Thompson was best man as the groom is a member of the Republican Central committee, working in the senator's office.

Lumbermen Come Through

Campbell Little League finished its regular season last week with a blazing six-game schedule. Two teams, Western Gravel and Herb Raymond, ended in a tie for first place honors and the two teams were playing off the tie this weekend. The winner meeting Campbell Stamp, first half champ, in another playoff to decide the season's winner.

Although top honors for the second half are divided between Western Gravel and Herb Raymond, the plaudits of the final week all went to the lowly Campbell Lumber team. Unable to get into the win column all season, the Lumbermen came through in the final week and copped two contests. On Monday they took Campbell Stamp 6-5 and on Saturday they humbled Herb Raymond 7-1.

According to Guy Troedsen, Little League director, a round-robin tournament between the teams of Campbell and Cambrian Little Leagues is on tap plus the final play-off of the season when the winner of Campbell plays the winner of Cambrian for the inter-league crown.

Mac's Market	4	9	0

This was a humdinger of a contest with the issue only decided in the final stanza when Mac's Market came out on top over No Cal by a 4-3 score.

It went like this: Bill Kellogg of the No Calers dramatically swatted his second home run of the season with Don Schultz on to go ahead in the top half of the sixth. In the bottom of the sixth, Dean Bowman grounded pitcher to first. Bill Holland singled as did Al Brasile. Roger Sipes towered to left. At this point Manager Fred Remer had Dick Ucci purposely passed. Bags were loaded and little Johnny Grewohl at bat. Grewohl executed a perfect bunt with Bill Holland scurrying across with the winning tally.

Unique Milking Parlor Features SC County Fair

County fair time is reaching a peak in California right now, according to the California State Chamber of Commerce. Visitors will find stage shows, athletic events, exhibits, games, rides, every type of display—and the fun and excitement of a large, lively community fair in these towns: Costa Mesa, Turlock, Quincy, Ukiah, Roseville, Napa, Ferndale and San Mateo.

Each fair has distinctive attractions, too. Orange county displays its citrus wealth, San Mateo is paying special tribute to its 100th birthday, Plumas will present an unusual Woodsmen's Show and Pacific Loggers' Championship, Placer celebrates Roseville's 50th anniversary as a railroad center.

There are many more events beckoning people with special interests and hobbies. Amateur gardeners will enjoy La Mesa's Festival of Flowers and the splendid begonia and fuchsia gardens at La Canada. Music lovers can attend Hollywood Bowl symphonies, Burbank Starlight Bowl Concerts, performances of Kern's "Show Boat" at the Woodminster Amphitheatre in Oakland, Sunday afternoon programs at Sigmund Stern Grove in San Francisco and pops concerts in the San Francisco Civic Auditorium. People who enjoy learning the customs of other countries won't want to miss Danish Days in Solvang or the colorful Nisei Festival in Los Angeles.

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

REMINDERS

1. New crop seeds of perennials such as Delphinium, Penstemon and Columbine are now ready. Sow them now for bloom next Spring and Summer.
2. It's time to do something about the Winter vegetable crop. These vegetables can be planted now—Cabbage, Cauliflower, Brussels Sprouts, Carrots, Beets, Turnips, Onion Sets and Garden Peas.
3. Prune out all the canes of Boysen and Youngberries which bore fruit this summer. Leave the new shoots which will bear next year.
4. One cause of brown patches in lawns is a compacted soil which refuses to take water. An easy remedy is lawn perforation with an inexpensive tool called a water bore.

Plant winter flowering sweet pea seed now.

Chrysanthemums in Containers

What better way to add color to your Fall garden than with Chrysanthemums. Mums are now or will soon be available at your nursery in one-gallon containers. It is easier to give them the care which will produce beautiful blooms in late October and early November.

Often the many varieties of the Cushion Chrysanthemum are chosen for garden or container culture; however, there are many varieties in other classifications which also make excellent subjects. One of the more prominent Cushion Mums, the Rose Madder, is often used because it bears an intermediate sized flower of rose-pink in mid-November which makes it excellent for the late-Fall Football Classics. Another mid-November producer, the Beautiful Lady is bright pink in color. For flowers earlier than mid-November, select the original Cushion, the Amelia, which will bloom in early November with full flowers in pink.

Other Mums from which you may select for your Fall garden are Red Persian Rose, a raspberry red bloom appearing in late October and the Svea which boloms in golden bronze in early November. Both the Yellow Beauty which has a golden yellow flower and Mrs. Needles which bloom in bright pink blooms in early November.

Place potted Chryanthemums where they will get sun two-thirds of the day. In hot areas be sure that this two-thirds is during the earlier part of the day so that your plant will have shade during as much of the afternoon as possible. Water frequently enough to keep the soil with a moist pliable consistency but do not allow water to dampen foliage. Fertilize with a preparation containing plenty of nitrogen after consulting with your nurseryman to determine how much fertlizing your Chrysanthemum requires. Over-fertilization and fertilization within two weeks before blooming tend to adversely affect the plants.

To keep your Mum plants erect in their containers, you will need to stake them. Another very lovely way to train container Chrysanthemums is to cascade them. This requires time and patience but the results are lovely indeed. If you want to cascade your container-grown Mums, make sure you choose small, multi-flowered varieties with willowy slender stems. Some of the better varieties for this purpose are Butterfly; yellow, late October; Tuxedo, light pink; early November; and Bridal Veil; snowy white, early October. Cascading Mums is an exacting and time consuming job, but rewarding if done properly, the California Association of Nurserymen says.

To achieve maximum blooms, perhaps for shows and exhibition, you must disbud by pinching off the crown bud, which is encircled by leaves. Next, after the terminal bud has appeared surrounded by a circle of smaller buds, pinch off all smaller buds but not the terminal. Often it's best to leave two buds for flowering so that if one is misshapen or injured the other will flower.

After you've had some experience growing Mums in containers, you may want to try growing several plants in one container—multiple Mums, they're called, and they range from two to seven plants per pot.

Growing Chrysanthemums in containers is quite easy and rewarding. When the plants bloom, you can move them about to decorate your patio, porch or out-door living area. And the beautiful Autumn colors of the Chrysanthemum will carry the color show in your garden from summer right into Fall.

Garden Geraniums

The Garden Geranium, Common Geranium or Bonal Geraniums, as it is variously called, has many reasons for recommending itself to California gardeners. First, it is remarkably easy to grow, requiring no special culture. Secondly, it will grow in most areas of the state. Most important, its foliage and flowers are so colorful and attractive that it will brighten even the dullest of garden spots.

For best results with your Garden Geraniums (Pelargonium hortorum) plant them in full sun of your garden in mild climates or light shade if you're in hot summer locales, recommends the California Association of Nurserymen. Practically any well-drained soil will suit this perennial. Water moderately but hold off on the fertilizing unless necessary and then only lightly, because too rich a soil will make them go to leaf and flower less. Groom Geraniums periodically by pinching, removing faded flowers, cutting back older plants and you'll have healthier plants.

There are many attractive ways to plant Geraniums—along driveways or walks, against fences, in perennial flower beds or in pots. The Garden Geranium has been hybridized and many varieties developed in recent years. These varieties are available in reds, oranges, pinks, purples and white. Geranium specialists will have all the new varieties available and the following can be obtained in almost any nursery; Radio Red, scarlet; Better Times, rosy red; Maxime Kovalesky, orange; Fiat Supreme, shrimp pink; Snow ball, white.

There are lovely fancy-leaved Garden Geraniums, too, such as Mrs. Parker, with green and white variegated leaves and pink flowers, and Mrs. Cox with variegated leaves of red, gold and green. Dwarf Garden Geranium varieties make colorful plants too. Some Dwarfs are Pigmy, bright red; Black Vesuvius, scarlet red flowers and almost black leaves; and Pixie, pink flowers.

How To Feed Acid Plants

Many plants need a mid-summer application of fertilizer, particularly the acid loving ones, such as gardenia, fuchsias, camellias, azaltas, rhododendrons and daphnes.

Look to the plant itself to tell you how much fertilizer to apply,
